AIR FLEET'S FIRST UNIT BEING BUILT

Plan Calls for Operation of Six Airplanes Among California Cities

The first of a proposed fleet of six airplanes to ply daily between Los Angeles and San Francisco is being built by Catron and Fisk of Venice, it was learned last night. The plane now being completed is a twin-motor triplane with enclosed cabin for eight persons. It will be ready for trial flights soon after February 1.

"We intend to operate four machines and to hold two in reserve," E. M. Fisk said last night. "They will cruise between here and San Francisco, stopping at Eureka, Redwood City, Modesto. About five hours will be consumed in travel. One ship will leave here at 8 o'clock in the forenoon and the other will leave at noon. Ships will leave San Francisco at the same time. The fare probably will be $20 or $25."

Catron and Fisk have built a number of planes in local use, some of which have attracted the attention of experts by their performance.

Fisk would not discuss the capital back of the proposed line, but it is understood Bay City money has been put up for at least a part of the project.

Rum Chaser and Ferry Collide in Heavy Bay Fog

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—In one of the heaviest fogs that has visited the San Francisco Bay region the ferry steamer Casadero collided with the coast guard motor chaser, C-256 off Alcatraz Island on an early morning run today. Capt. G. H. Jacobson of the rum chaser and a member of the crew were thrown overboard and were picked up by one of the Casadero's small boats after a search of twenty minutes in the fog. The ferry damaged one of her paddle wheels in the collision. The rum chaser was also considerably damaged, but remained afloat.

STAR CLAIMS COMPROMISE NEW BUDGET PREPARED

HELD BASIS FOR ACCORD

European Nations Chuckle at Aim of Britain and America to Drive Hard Bargains

PARIS, Jan. 9.—Great Britain and the United States are getting together slowly "but normally" on the American reparation claims which are to finally come before the conference of Allied finance ministers in session here.

At the end of today's informal discussions and conferences it was apparent that the representatives of both English-speaking countries were trying to drive a hard bargain. Winston Churchill, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, wishes to economize and the American estimate of war damage claims, tentatively fixed at $10,000,000, is likely to be whittled down before the Anglo-Saxons finally reach the expected agreement.

Ambassadors Herriot and Kellogg, with James A. Logan, Jr., United States representative with the reparation commission are standing their ground but the negotiations for the time being are up to the respective governments of England and America.

The continental delegations are watching the deadlock between the two principal countries with ill-suppressed chuckles.

ONE POINT GAINED

Belgium's assent to the reduction of her $250,000,000 claim to $100,000,000, or perhaps 5 per cent, if necessary, appears to have been the only forward step made today. Complete accord also has not been reached on the Belgian position, as the latter contends she still has about $50,000,000 gold francs due her on her priority claims.

The American war damage claims settlement, however, remains the most important matter before the conference. Three full days have elapsed since the conference convened and the days, except for two very brief plenary sessions, have been almost entirely occupied by unofficial and private conversations between members of the American and British delegations in an effort to reach a compromise.

The net result of that late tonight Ambassador Herriot and Mr. Churchill are awaiting further instructions from Washington and London. Despite assurances of both delegations that an accord certainly will be reached, the slow progress is causing a feeling of surprise among the European delegations from which a certain degree of satisfaction is not altogether absent.

REDUCTION DEMANDED

Among the continental representatives one hears references to the Anglo-Saxon attitude of "rascality of open diplomacy" and a greater show of confidence between European nations. The comment from the Belgian side is that England and America find it difficult to agree when the economy of dollars and sterling. It is pointed out that the only tangible progress made during the recent three days has been due to the Belgian announcement that they were ready to abandon a portion of their priority claims under the Spa agreement.

Absolute secrecy is maintained concerning Anglo-American negotiations, but it is understood that British are insisting upon the reduction of the amount of the $150,000,000 which was tentatively put forward by the Americans as their war damage claims. Ambassador Kellogg and Mr. Logan are expected to meet this afternoon and at his conclusion, sent a cablegram to Secretary of State Hughes outlining the respective positions. Both sides know they must get together before going into a full session of the conference Monday, and that to reach an accord there must be compromise all along the line.

M. Clementel, French Minister of Finance, and Premier Theunis of Belgium, assisted by the experts of their delegations, held a three-hour conference this afternoon at which the Belgian priority matter was foremost in the discussion, although all the other questions which are likely to come up were touched upon.

AMERICA TO PAY BERLIN

Seized Ships to be Purchased

Action Depends on Assurance United States War Claims Will be Honored

Reparation Demand Expected to be Third Less Than Early Estimates

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—In settling war accounts with Germany the United States will pay for the Leviathan and all other German merchant marine vessels seized in American waters after we entered the conflict.

It transpired today that Secretary of State Hughes has agreed to this restitution to Germany in the course of his negotiations with Great Britain and France of an agreement on the satisfaction of American war claims against Germany.

The most important German ships seized by the United States numbered about thirty. The Shipping Board at one time sought to sell these vessels expecting to obtain therefor approximately $40,000,000 or $50,000,000 but the sale was prevented by an injunction.

TWO CLASSES MADE

American war claims against Germany fall into two classes: Cost of the American Army of Occupation in Germany, which amounted to $250,000,000, and damages to American citizens from Germany's war operations, which will be fixed by the Mixed Claims Commission at approximately $225,000,000, an aggregate total of $475,000,000 for all claims against Germany which will be deducted the value of the seized German ships.

With the Allies agreeing that the amount due the United States shall be liquidated gradually from the payments Germany has begun making under the Spa agreement, it was intended to pay American claimants against Germany out of this sequestered fund. If Germany failed to make good on this agreement, the United States would be forced to sue for the balance of the German property seized during the war, which is valued at $250,000,000.

Figures released today by the German-American Mixed Claims Commission disclose that Germany already disposed of, less than $100,000,000 has been awarded claimants in the United States.

ESTIMATES ARE CUT

The exact amount awarded thus far is $58,000,000. Based on this showing, commission officials estimate that instead of the final awards against Germany amounting to $200,000,000 in round numbers, the figure is more likely to be nearer $200,000,000, with the majority of estimates fluctuating between $200,000,000 and $240,000,000. These figures are for the lump sums only and do not include interest, which probably will aggregate several millions more before the claims are paid.

Thus far $100 claims have been disposed of by the commission. Of these $535 were dismissed, 468 withdrawn and 1005 allowed. In the cases of the claims allowed, $150,000,000 was asked for by the claimants and $58,000,000 was a very high percentage in the opinion of the experts. The totals for the 1536 claims disallowed amounted to $296,000,000.

These dispositions include settlements of claims based on loss of life, personal injuries, the loss of hulls and cargoes through Germany's submarine warfare, sequestration, requisitions, insurance, American interests in German estates, claims of prisoners of war and the Lusatian claims.

MANY CLAIMS DENIED

A summary of the work done thus far, together with the reasons for the dismissal of certain types of claims, is being prepared, and the timing of cases growing out of the sinking of the Lusitania and other German ships by American awards will not run higher.

When the 12,000 claims were filed with the American agency for presentation to the commission the total amount demanded was $1,479,043,332.

Shortly after beginning work the commission has been able to reject several claims.

Objectors to these measures can be arrested and fined as high as $500,000 under the President's order. About 1800 persons have already been vaccinated at Vera Cruz and 6000 more at Cordoba. Fumigation and vaccination equipment and supplies in large quantities have been ordered sent to Vera Cruz. Though definite figures are not available, the number of deaths in the epidemic is understood to be high.

STONE OPPOSED AS JUSTICE

Committee Defers Confirmation to Supreme Court

Post Pending Review of Lausit Records

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Unexpected opposition to the confirmation of Atty.-Gen. Stone to be an Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court arose today with a result that a Senate Judiciary subcommittee deferred action pending examination of court records last before it by James A. Owenby of Boulder, Colo.

These records deal with a suit brought against Owenby by the executors of the estate of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, for whom Mr. Stone appeared as counsel before the Supreme Court. Owenby lost the action, which came up from the Delaware State courts.

Owenby was part owner and general manager for the Wooten and Fust Company, engaged in coal mining and other activities in Colorado and New Mexico, and, according to the court records, the executors of the Morgan estate, J. P. Morgan, William P. Hamilton and Herbert L. Saterlee, brought action in the Federal court in Delaware. A special bond of $200,000 was required of him under the statute, and when he was unable to furnish it the Supreme Court refused to permit him to defend the action and forthwith entered judgment for $200,000 against him.

Owenby asserted that intrinsically, his stock, which he claimed had been seized, was worth $400,000, but that in value it was destroyed by the receivership, and that since this constituted his entire fortune, he was unable to obtain the bond required by the court, although he sought to get it in Washington, New York, Chicago, Denver and Boulder.

JUDGMENT ENTERED

After judgment was entered, an appeal was taken to the Delaware Court of Appeals, which upheld the lower court.

Colorado Attorney-General Would Let Supreme Court Rule on Rights if Arizona Rejects Compact

DENVER, Jan. 9.—Recommendation that the State of Colorado take the initiative in bringing suit in the United States Supreme Court for adjudication of the rights of six of the seven commonwealths concerned in the Colorado River compact, in the event the Legislature of Arizona, the seventh State, does not ratify the treaty this year, was recommended to Gov. Sweet today by Atty.-Gen. Wayne C. Williams.

The recommendation declares that proposals along this line have already been "acted upon" so far as could be before the termination of the biennial term.

The Attorney-General recommends that in the event of failure of Arizona to ratify the compact, the Supreme Court of the United States be asked to take original jurisdiction and adjudicate the rights of the various States concerned.

The recommendation of the Attorney-General, which is contained in his biennial report to the Governor, discloses that the plan was suggested in May, 1924, and that negotiations in that direction were begun by Colorado.

In this connection it is known that Fred S. Caldwell, then assistant Attorney-General, was instructed to visit all the other States concerned, except Arizona, and determine whether or not they would join Colorado in the suit. Mr. Caldwell resigned from the office of assistant Attorney-General last November, and now is practicing law in Denver.

Only Six Men Freed in Two Years by Richardson

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9.—Acts of executive clemency performed by Gov. Richardson were detailed in a message which the chief executive has sent to the Legislature, in accordance with the provisions of the Constitution. The Governor informs the lawmakers that the "era of the sob sister of both sexes" is at an end in California. "Every request for executive clemency has been given thoughtful and sympathetic consideration," the message states. "I have made it a rule to require arguments and statements regarding pardons to be submitted in writing so that they may be carefully reviewed and be a part of the public record. This policy has placed the humblest prisoner without friends or able to employ competent counsel, and thus has spared the executive the pains of frenzied oratory and emotional eloquence."

The statement continues that the Governor has associated twenty acts of executive clemency, but only four men have been released from the State's prison and two from county jails. Of the four released from the State's prison, three were upon recommendation of the District Attorney General and the fourth was a woman who had been sentenced to the State Prison for a term of five years for a crime charged by the county from county jails were three persons whose action in pleading without counsel had been approved by the Governor. The Governor said, "I have exercised great care in these matters because I believe it is the prime duty of the Governor to uphold the officers of the law and to protect society by convicting criminals and to ensure that they cannot escape punishment in California and that the era of the sob sister of both sexes is at an end."

Gov. Sweet refused to make any other announcement, concerning the warden, but it is known that he held a conference with Mr. Osborne and attorneys representing the Governor in the case which the latter was filed in Tynan charging him with incompetency, inefficiency and permitting brutality to prisoners.

What transpired in the conference was not made known, but the Governor's refusal to force further developments might be expected soon. Gov. American officials insist that the treaty provisions held with the Japanese belief, but these matters do not weigh with the President. The President is believed to be leaning toward the gun elevation would be the beginning of the end of the present treaty. There is support for the position taken by the President in current dispatches from Great Britain. The British naval and general publications that have reached this country. The tone of these publications indicates that the prevailing belief in Great Britain is that the United States Navy today is stronger than the British navy.

WE ARE STRONGER

The naval publications in London as well as the newspapers tell the public that American battleships are later developed and more heavily armed than the British; that America has ten modern cruisers of high speed against no more than six on the British side; that she has more battlehips, flagships and submarines and a larger fleet of destroyers. The statements are exaggerated, they do promote the belief in England that the United States Navy is stronger than the British Navy.

London newspapers used such headlines as these: "America's Huge Naval Power" and "The New Big Cruisers" over dispatches from Washington, reporting the introduction of the new naval authorization bill.

Playing on the belief that the United States came off better under the treaty than did the British, and that the United States is seeking new advantages on the sea, certain British newspapers are advancing the claim that the British navy is stronger than the United States Navy.

Ambassador Herrick Has Unwelcome Diversion as
He Finishes Dinner

(BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS)
PARIS, Jan. 9.—An outbreak of fire in the American Embassy on the Avenue de la Motte-Picquet tonight afforded Ambassador Myron T. Herrick an unwelcome diversion from his diplomatic preoccupations as he was finishing dinner.

The fire started in the servant's quarters of the mansion. The fire department responded promptly and extinguished the blaze after an hour's work. A chambermaid attached to the household suffered a badly burned hand and considerable damage was done to the furniture.

Recent dispatches from Paris said that the American Embassy would be moved from its present location to new quarters at 2 Avenue D'Ivry, near the Bois de Boulogne, which Ambassador Herrick purchased last April for the use of the American Embassy. About $200,000 will be spent in refitting the new Embassy, the dispatches added.

Measure

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The McFadden bill proposing a wide range of changes in the national banking laws was taken up late today by the House under a rule limiting general debate to three hours. A vote on passage is planned tomorrow with opponents conceding victory for the bill. At the outset, the measure, which has as one of its objects the placing of national banks on a more equal competitive basis with State institutions, particularly with regard to branches, was assailed by Representative Nelson of Ohio, Republican, leader of the La Follette insurgents in the House. He referred to it as a "pork barrel" bill, which would give a few powerful bankers, but would work against the best interest of wage workers and farmers.

The remarks of the Wisconsin Representative brought a vigorous reply from Chairman McFadden of the Banking Committee, author of the bill, and from Representative Wood of Indiana, a Republican, who said that both of them took Mr. Nelson to task for his opposition during the last session of the campaign to the Coolidge candidacy.

MELILLA (Morocco) Jan. 9.—The situation in the eastern section of the Spanish zone which has been quiet for several months while Ab-El-Krim's native warriors were engaged in harassing the retreating Spanish troops in the western half of the zone, recently has shown significant signs of activity.

Apparently the tribesmen are now able to spare large forces for operations on the Melilla front, leaving only a screen facing the Spanish troops. Since the Spanish troops have not been able to move forward, the Spanish troops have been forced to remain in the Melilla front, leaving only a screen facing the Spanish troops.

VOTE TO RETIRE SCHOOL HEAD

Alhambra Education Board

One Member Claims to Have

Delegation Asks Retention of Present Executive

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE)
ALHAMBRA, Jan. 9.—At a somewhat tumultuous meeting of the Board of Education last night, it was announced that four of the five members had agreed to vote against the reappointment of Charles Emory Barber to the position of Superintendent of Schools for the coming term. The fifth member, Mrs. Herbert J. Goudge, denounced the action of the board, declaring that a meeting was held last Sunday morning to reach a decision in the matter and that she had not been advised of it.

Although no official vote on the Barber matter will be taken until June, when his term of office expires, it is customary to arrive at a decision in advance and so notify the incumbent.

Last night's session of the school board was the climax of an agitation which has been reaching considerable proportions during the past few weeks. Friends of Mr. Barber have circulated petitions asking that he be assured of reappointment. These petitions were presented last night by W. F. Goble, who headed a large delegation of Barber sympathizers. The announcement by L. D. White, member of the board, that four of the members had agreed to vote against Barber, came as a bombshell into the ranks of the latter's friends.

Woman Suffers Skull Fracture in Auto Mishap

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
LONG BEACH, Jan. 9.—Mrs. Helena Parks, 26 years of age, of 601 Pacific avenue, suffered a skull fracture today when the machine in which she was riding swerved abruptly in making a turn, according to police, the sudden twist slinging her from her seat onto the pavement headfirst.

Harold C. La Grange of 1332 East Anaheim street was driving the car. He said that Mrs. Parks dropped her housekey in the road near the food-court bridge on Anaheim street and that when she informed him of this he turned the car abruptly to return to the spot where the key had been lost, causing his passenger to be thrown from the car.

Mrs. Parks was removed to the Seaside Hospital and attended by Dr. Charles.

A VALLEY JURY SEES NO
WRONG IN HAVING
SMALL BOTTLE

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE)
CALIFORNIA, Jan. 9.—Although Mrs. Peter D. Medina was shown to have had possession of a half-pint bottle of moonshine whiskey, a jury of nine men and three women returned a verdict of not guilty of violation of the Wright Act at the woman's trial in Justice of the Peace Myers' court.

The trial of the woman lasted all day and several witnesses, including two officers, were heard. The evidence showed that the small bottle of liquor was found by the officers hidden at the woman's home.

Attorney William F. North, appearing for Mrs. Medina, argued that the law does not contemplate possession of such a small amount of intoxicating liquor, and the jury agreed with him. The verdict of the jury in this case has caused discussion among California residents regarding the enforcement of the prohibition laws.

Several months ago Chief of Police Holmes asserted that he could not enforce the law unless the people, especially jurors, backed him up in it. After that a jury of women convicted a man of possession of a small amount of liquor. According to Chief Holmes, local residents have again lost interest in aiding him to stop bootlegging here.

Jury Finds No Fault With
Owner of Large Quantity of Grape Juice

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
RIVERSIDE, Jan. 9.—Ten gallons of concentrated grape juice added to sixty gallons of water equals ordinary grape juice. At least this might be taken more or less for granted as a result of a decision of a jury in Justice H. C. Hibbard's court which, after ten minutes deliberation, returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of C. N. Marrietta, charged with illegal possession of liquor. The case occupied two days and was devoted largely to expert testimony concerning the percentage of alcohol such a concoction as Marrietta's contained. The jury possibly contain. A chemist for the defense declared it could not contain more than 5 per cent, while a local chemist for the state asserted that the sample he analyzed contained 7.3 per cent.

Setting up the case to the jury Attorney J. Richardson, for the defendant, asserted that a man had a right to the possession of liquor for his own use. Objections of Albert Ford, Chief Deputy District Attorney, to this being included in the instructions to the jury were overruled by Justice Hibbard.

This was Marrietta's second trial for the same offense. The jury in the first trial, which heard the case the first time apparently being unable to solve the riddle as it failed to reach a verdict.

INGLEWOOD, Jan. 9.—Why Midwinter numbers of the Los Angeles Times should be sent to all one's eastern friends was told here today by George M. Sutton, past president of this State, of broad lines, returned from a business trip to the Middle West.

He spoke of seeing and hearing of many stories in the newspapers of that section, exaggerating conditions in this State, of broad lines, universal depression and devastating plagues. He related a talk on the train with an Indiana business man who showed him a clipping from his home-town paper in which it was related, with horrible details, that a mounted police officer had been overcome with his horse-plague on the corner of Fifth and Spring street in Los Angeles, had fallen from his horse, and that the crowd on the street, on learning the nature of his malady, had fled, leaving him to die.

Pasadena Citizen Speaks Against Proposed Law

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
PASADENA, Jan. 9.—Asserting that the proposed Twentieth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States regarding child labor, is useless, senseless and impractical, J. Hazard Halstead, prominent Pasadena business man, in an address before the One Hundred Per Cent Club of the city, emphatically opposed adoption of such a regulation. This amendment which would give Congress the power to limit, regulate and prohibit the labor of children up to 18 years of age, met with little favor in the Pasadena address.

If this amendment is passed, Congress would have control of 4,000,000 children in the United States, he said, and could make it legally impossible for parents to make their children do the kind of work at home or on the farm that has been the making of many successful men and women today.

Every State has its own child labor law, Mr. Halstead declared, which is sufficient for such regulation. He said that the Twentieth Amendment would be a hindrance to the Eighteenth Amendment and the lack of enforcement given it, which would also result if the proposed Twentieth Amendment were adopted, he said.

Pair Charged With Murder of "Bootleg King" Will

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 9.—Irving Denton and L. C. Buntin were arraigned on charges of murdering William Henry Keefe, better known as George Turner, "King of Bootleggers," before Justice of the Peace C. E. Gurnea at 11 o'clock this morning and the date of the preliminary hearing was set for Wednesday at 9 a.m.

A large crowd followed the two men to the Justice Court from the County Jail, including several men prominently identified with illicit liquor traffic in the city.

Denton, it appears, has lost the friendship of both the organized dealers represented by Turner and the group of independent bootleggers at whose hands he stood, because of his fecklessness and willingness to take a chance.

Even while his confessed slayers surrounded his life followed a murder, the body of Turner was borne from the morgue to Calvary cemetery, where a large group of mourners knelt beside his grave to hear the Catholic ritual read.

He positively will not be a candidate for re-election, he declared today. "Neither the changing of the tax collection system nor the increase in Assessor's salary has anything to do with it," Mr. Mullen said today.

BRAWLEY, Jan. 9.—Numerous cases of petty thieving have lately been reported to Chief of Police Charles Verga, but the latest is just about the rarest bit of nerve that has yet been recorded here. The opinion of the Chief is that the subdividers completely disappeared the other night and not a trace of them has been discovered.

Trostle is in the County Jail, accused of violating the Volstead Act. Case said he had suspected Trostle for several days, having received word that the carrier was delivering illicit liquor as well as mail.

Trostle was arrested while covering his route between Warner and Montezuma Valley. In his car, Case said, were two pairs of liquor intended for delivery to customers. Unruly Students

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
SANTA ANA, Jan. 9.—Denial that cider with alcoholic content was stolen from his kitchen was made to Superior Judge C. F. Drumm here today by G. A. Rittelbarger, principal of the Placentia Grammar School, who contended that the liquor in a jug pilfered by four youths was vinegar.

Elton Moore and Ernest Sweet, who appeared in Juvenile Court presided over by Judge Drumm, confessed to burglary charges and were given probation on the charge. They were with Lawrence Richards and Otto Adams, youths also of Placentia who have not yet been apprehended, the youths admitted.

The Sweet and Richards boys entered the house, the former told the court, while the other two remained outside. He declared they took from his garage also, and a jug of cider, besides a bottle of extract and a harmonica. Rittelbarger, who was in court with his attorney, made a statement at this time denying the product was liquor, adding he kept a jug of vinegar in his garage also, and that this too was missing.

Moore declared the product was alcohol, he saying it burned his mouth, questioned as to his knowledge of alcoholic drinks. Moore qualified his statement by adding that the other boys said the liquid was liquor.

Sweet and Moore denied telling anyone they saw six bottles of gin in the schoolman's cupboard. It had been there there they would have taken it, the boys, aged 15 and 17, respectively, admitted.

The principal, in his statement to the court, declared he had trouble with the boys when they were in his school. He admitted the fact as basis for the rumors that stirred the little city east of Fullerton. Mrs. Rittelbarger said the court there had been no cider in her kitchen for a year.

GOLDEN GREETING

Universals to Repeat Plan of Welcoming Tourists

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
RIVERSIDE, Jan. 9.—Great things with orange.

This plan, carried out effectively by the Riverside Chamber of Commerce last year, is again to be tried out soon after the 30th inst., when a group of pretty girls will meet inbound trains each day, to greet the arriving tourists.

The details of the arrangements for the greeting of the tourists are now being worked out by Secretary Scheenman and his committee, and it was stated today that it is hoped to have the plan under way by a week from Tuesday.

This novel greeting, as carried out last year, resulted in much favorable publicity for Riverside, and the Chamber of Commerce believed similar action should be taken by the Chamber of Commerce this year.

DEATH ENDS CAREER OF VETERAN ARTIST

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 9.—Alexander F. Harner, dean of artists in the Santa Barbara colony, died last night after an illness of several days.

Harner, who has gained nationwide recognition, was a veteran of Indian campaigns in the campaign of 1885 when Gen. George Crook penetrated the Sierra Madre of Mexico and brought out General Harner as a prisoner. He was one of the party, the only enlisted man from headquarters.

CITY PUTS MOONSHINE UNDER BAN

Officials Declare Quality of Beverage Must Come Up to Standard

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
SAN DIEGO, Jan. 9.—Another clean-up is under way in San Diego, but this time it is moonshine liquor, not morals, that is under the official ban, according to word from the border town today.

Visitors to the Mexican village who have paid the long price for what they supposed was the "real stuff," will be surprised to learn that the liquor which they imbibed from bottles bearing time-honored labels, was for the most part green whiskey concocted on the premises.

Consternation is said to have reigned among a number of San Diego's prominent barkeepers when Federal Inspector Gonzalez came direct to the town from Mexico City and applied the acid test to the liquor sold in many of the saloons. Bottles of bootleg whiskey adorned with bogus labels were swept out of sight in many instances, but not until Gonzalez had closed five saloons and fined their owners $100 each for dispensing the crude stuff under the guise of formerly well-known American brands.

Gonzalez, it is reported, has laid down the law to the San Diego saloonkeepers, declaring that the Mexican government will not tolerate the sale of any but genuine liquors under truthful labels. Henceforth, so the assurance is given, a close watch will be kept for any attempt to peddle bootleg stuff for the real article. The inspector also plans to investigate the "hoop palaces" at Escondido.

CITY ENTERTAINS AT CARNIVAL OF LIGHT

CORONA, Jan. 9.—"Let there be light, and there was light."

Corona was a blaze of glory, with radiant beams from the recently installed ornamental electricolor system, sending the electric atoms over the entire district last night, and the din and cheering of thousands of spectators present at the Carnival of Lights.

Ten thousand people witnessed the switching on of the electricolor system and the mark of forward progress registered by the Circle City.

Miss Terrell, presiding in the stately role of Queen of Lights, switched on the system at 10 o'clock, and the city was aglow with the golden hues. The queen and attendants, Helen Boltrich, Verna Fearns, Mildred Buman, Gertrude Brown, Avis Gorman, Georgia Lawrence, led the parade from the big baroque, which preceded the ceremonies, in the center of the city.

CALIFORNIA, Jan. 9.—Although Mrs. Peter D. Medina was shown to have had possession of a half-pint bottle of moonshine whiskey, a jury of nine men and three women returned a verdict of not guilty of violation of the Wright Act at the woman's trial in Justice of the Peace Myers' court.

The trial of the woman lasted all day and several witnesses, including two officers, were heard. The evidence showed that the small bottle of liquor was found by the officers hidden at the woman's home.

Attorney William F. North, appearing for Mrs. Medina, argued that the law does not contemplate possession of such a small amount of intoxicating liquor, and the jury agreed with him. The verdict of the jury in this case has caused discussion among California residents regarding the enforcement of the prohibition laws.

Wheat Reverses Thursday Action and Ends Higher

(REUTERS DISPATCH)
CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—The wheat market reversed the action of the previous day, both here and abroad, although ending 1/4 cent higher. There were reports of a rise in the export of wheat for Portugal and Cuba that a leading Canadian authority would not do with a further increase of the wheat in this country. This brought the market back to the level of the previous day, with a slight gain of 1/4 cent. The market closed at 1.07 1/4, up from 1.07 1/4 and 1.07 1/4.

In the face of the prospective heavy movement of wheat from the western hemisphere, there was a slight rise in the market. The market closed at 1.07 1/4, up from 1.07 1/4 and 1.07 1/4.

Produce and related items were also higher. The market closed at 1.07 1/4, up from 1.07 1/4 and 1.07 1/4.

THE BACKGROUND
We are told that it is not so much the white faces as the greenbacks of our girls that furnish the lure to the foreign fortune hunter.

UNDER NEW COLORS
Trinity College surrenders its name and becomes Duke University on its acceptance of $6,000,000 as an endowment from the fortune of the tobacco magnate. The Trinity goes up in smoke, as it were, to make room for the trappings of a Duke.

BEAUTY AND THE BEAST
Now it seems that some of our men, tired of long waits in the tontourisms, are patronizing the beauty shops of the women for card and treatment. When it comes to the facial massage and the mud-mugging the girl operators are in the preferred class.

LIFE'S TRAGEDIES
According to the best figures obtainable, the average cost of living for the normal family in Germany is five gold marks higher than the average wage of the head of the family. Under such circumstances the business of living must be getting frightfully complicated. What eventually becomes of people who spend more than they earn?

GOOD OF THE WORLD
The Rockefeller are providing $3,000,000 for the use of the New York Public Library. They are also giving $1,000,000 to the Metropolitan Museum of Art and another $1,000,000 to the American Museum of Natural History. These substantial offerings to letters, science and art indicate the further splendors to which oil may be put. The Rockefeller fortune is really working for the whole world and along some of the most uplifting lines. The millions, in their selflessness for humanity, are giving battle to death, disease, dirt, dumbness and depravity.

SOME ARMY CHANGES
It is understood that Uncle Sam's Army is due for a number of important changes in the roster of the higher-ups. No less than five major-generals will shortly be required to go on the retired list by reason of reaching the age limit of 64 years. Four of these are now serving as corps commanders. The necessary promotions will therefore cause quite a shuffling up at the chief posts. Several brigadiers will increase their collection of stars and the promotions will extend clear down to the company commanders. It seems that we are still going to need an army and, that being the case, it must be an active and competent one.

BILL AND THE FILMS
It would be hard to substitute Shakespeare for the films in this stage of the world's fancy. But Robert Mantell is quoted as saying: "For a world that is drunk with the movies the only sobering draught can be Shakespeare." It is hardly fair to say that the films are merely intoxicating or Shakespeare simply an antidote. There is still room in the world for both the poetic drama and the cinema. The movies reflect after the manner of a mirror, the human and represent the life and thought of the time. As for Will Shakespeare, he hardly wrote his plays for sobering draughts. Imagine trying to sober up on "Titus Andronicus," for instance.

COLLEGE PLAYS
Yale's new school of dramatic art is practical to the extent of the erection of a magnificent theater and the active production not only of new plays written by students, but of fresh offerings from Broadway. It affords a chance for training in every angle of the theatrical game. If our youths are to be trained in the creation of plays and scenarios they may as well acquire some ken of all the bumps in the path. A millionaire has provided the endowment for this dramatic experiment. On the other hand, New York and other vast clearinghouses for the drama will probably welcome the best efforts of the Yale play mill each season.

SENATOR BORAH'S PROPOSAL
Senator Borah's proposed conference of international representatives to discuss "economic and armament" questions would naturally lead into consideration of matters the President had in mind when he said he "should not wish to propose nor have representatives attend a conference which would contemplate commitments opposite to the freedom of action we desire to maintain unimpaired, with respect to our purely domestic policies." His disapproval of Senator Borah's idea was to be expected. It was obviously aimed at the Exclusion Act, and Senator Borah shows by his own words in discussing the President's attitude that he also had given special thought to the proposed conference with reference to its effect on Japan. That President Coolidge is determined to snuff out the slightest approach to Jingoism is just as apparent as his quiet but determined purpose to refuse to yield to clamor against a position so clearly in accord with American sentiment, even though it had not met with his full approval.

OUR CONGESTED COURTS

Vexatious cases of the law's delays are of frequent occurrence in this city. A default divorce suit was filed on the 8th of December. It was set for trial for the 24th of July. It would have taken the judge fifteen minutes to decide the case, but, owing to a crowded calendar, the plaintiff must wait over eight months for a decision. Another divorce case, filed on November 5, was set for the 18th day of next November. A property case, filed December 22, 1924, will be tried on January 15, 1925, nearly thirteen months from the beginning of the action. Most of the civil suits filed this month will not be heard until February, 1925.

People go to the courts for justice. What they can get is pretty certain at present is the injustice of interminable delay. We have twenty-eight Superior Courts in Los Angeles county. Of these five try criminal cases, two hear probate matters, two are occupied almost exclusively with divorce affairs and one with juvenile cases. This leaves only eighteen courts to try the multitude of civil suits, each involving considerable sums of money.

There were 25,394 civil suits filed with the County Clerk in 1924. A very large number of them have not yet been heard. Meantime thousands of others are piling up. If all the twenty-eight Superior Courts in the county and the nine Justice Courts in Los Angeles township were working full time, which they never are, they could not possibly handle all the cases coming before them this year.

Such court congestion works great hardship. A man who has attached a lot of goods and must pay storage on them of $100 or $200 a month until his case can be decided finds it expensive to come to court. After all, may be an adverse one. It is conceivable that a lady who is divorcing a recalcitrant husband is likely to become rather impatient when she is told that she must wait a year for her decree, particularly if she has another man in view. And in the case of a big suit for damages half the witnesses may be dead or, what is equivalent, have left California during the year or two that may elapse ere a decision shall be reached in the matter.

Aside from the tremendous expansion of the city and the naturally resultant increase in the volume of litigation, one reason why there are so many lawsuits in Los Angeles is that many litigants are strangers to one another. Where people are acquainted they are more likely to settle their disputes out of court. But private settlement is difficult among strangers. As for referees, they are in little favor. "I pay taxes," says a citizen, "I am entitled to have my case heard by a regular judge."

So the problem presented by cumulative court congestion, like that of traffic, is a knotty one. Above all things, its solution must not add a much greater burden to the taxpayer.

What is the answer? If it can be found anywhere it is in the creation of municipal courts to decide cases involving $1000 or less, which class constitutes 32 per cent of civil actions, and to try petty misdemeanors. Such a measure, duly approved by the voters at the last election, is before the present Legislature, and the favorable consideration and passage of it should take precedence over many measures of less importance. Twenty-five such courts would be required. They would supplant the fifteen justices and police magistrates and leave enough over to supplement our State judiciary by at least ten new judges. As these ten would receive smaller salaries than Superior judges and as the court fees would make them about 70 per cent self-sustaining, exclusive of housing, the extra burden to the taxpayer would not be great.

These municipal courts could not be established before November, if then, but nothing should be permitted to block legislation to that end. In the meantime the present judges might do much to speed up court machinery. A judge who sits on the bench only three or four hours a day for five days of the week and who is away for two months of the year on vacation would be considered by the ordinary business man to have a fairly easy time of it. We have some men on the Superior bench who keep good hours and these have said that, with a little more industry on the part of all the judges, court work could be speeded up 25 per cent. It would not be in harmony with the dignity of a judge or the deliberative character of his duties to propose the use of time clocks, but if that 25 per cent of extra court efficiency can be attained it is reasonable to suggest that a strong effort be made to attain it during the next eight months, or until the new municipal court can be put in operation.

As for the blocking of legislation by imposing technicalities that may defer the establishment of these courts for two and one-half years, as is feared by some attorneys, it is not to be tolerated.

METEORIC KANSAS

Prof. Oliver C. Farrington, curator of the geological department of the Field Museum, Chicago, has discovered that Kansas is the favorite target of meteors.

Must be some good reason. Things like that don't just happen by accident in this well-ordered universe. And, come to think of it, there are a good many reasons. For one, Kansas is about the greatest little State to call attention to itself that ever was. Oh, yes, California does a good deal of that, too, but not in such varied and peculiar ways as Kansas does. And, besides, there are a lot of ex-Kansans in California. Since the early days of John Brown of Osawatimie and Jim Lane and his redlegs Kansas has been about as shy of a place in the sun as its own gorgeous sunflowers. In the days when populism flourished it fairly draped itself in whiskers and liked in the middle of the road. It has been and is full of meteoric statements from Rockwell Jerry Simpson to William Allen White. It is a region which boasts of its cranks, because, it points out, cranks are objects which move things. It has been the Middle West's great mother of eccentric types—but it always has commanded a large share of the spotlight.

Whenever things get dull you can count on some son of Kansas to hop up and start something. There was Walt Mason, then a Kansan, who started the world to reading poetry again by disguising it as pure reading matter. There was Arthur Capper, who started the Midwest's realization of what it owes its farmers. There are all kinds and all favors, some of 'em pretty queer, but all comet-like, even if comical. No doubt the heavens started throwing meteorological confetti at Kansas because they thought Kansas had started the game.

The Cross-Word Puzzle

THE ITALIAN MUDDLE

From this distance the present situation in Italy, with its street riots, the King's fears of civil war, the repression of Communist and republican associations, the dissolution of the D'Annunzio union, together with the uncertain tenure of the Fascist and the reports that they may have to bow to public opinion and withdraw in favor of the Parliament, is not as clear as it might be. But the next two months are expected to witness a swing of the pendulum, and if this occurs a much-muddled condition of national affairs may be definitely settled and civil peace be fully restored.

The bewildering changes in the post-war history of Italy, the strange lapses from royal and Parliamentary rule to a Socialist complexion of affairs, followed by the rising of the Fascist, which saved Italy from Bolshevism, have been due largely to the leadership of one man—Benito Mussolini—who, through many swift vicissitudes, has managed to retain his position of dictator, though not always backed by the majority.

Mussolini is a born politician as well as an opportunist. When his measures go awry he faces about with astonishing celerity. Always he has manifested a peculiar aptitude for taking advantage of an existing situation in whatever form it has presented itself. He is cunning, yet his ordinary good sense sometimes is overcome by gusts of passion when he is hardly responsible for his acts. His enemies say that he does not hesitate to resort to violence and that his doctrine has been that the end justifies the means. He came into power because Italy feared Communism and had to have a strong man to confront it. Parliament was weak. It had become hopelessly inefficient because of the infamous modern bloc system. There was grave danger of a reckless minority striking out under the Red flag and taking possession of all Italy.

Although he had been a shining light in the Socialist party, Mussolini, obeying what was really a noble impulse, risked his life by forming a coalition of all the non-Socialist organizations and, suppressing all the non-Fascist, made the Fascist a real power, passed the electoral law and made himself master of national affairs.

The election which clinched his hold upon this mastery was reported as unfair and the many political murders which followed it added no luster to the new government, although the dictator's name was cleared of connection with them, but Italy felt safe, because it was in the hands of a strong man—a man who could be relied upon to keep down the elements which were the confiscation of property and the setting up of the Commune. Parliament could have done this but for the bloc resulting from the enemies of leading politicians. These new promises to come to terms by mutual concessions, and it is to be hoped, for the honor of Italy, that they will do so. Mussolini, who now has an undivided Fascist Cabinet behind him, has expressed himself as ready to lay down the reins whenever Parliament can show itself inherently and popularly strong enough to take them up.

The spring election will show the real strength of Parliament as well as of Mussolini and the Fascist, unless, indeed, the votes of the unborn and the dead are counted as they were at the last election in pursuance of the reckless policy that the end justifies the means. But, real or fictitious, this strength will show who is to rule Italy.

TREE CUTTING

The American Tree Association declares that it is foolish to waste grief over the annual Christmas-tree cutting. It is asserted that all the Christmas trees used by the whole nation could be raised on a tract of less than 5000 acres. Meanwhile we are annually cutting over 10,000,000 acres of forests with virtually no provision for replacement. Most of the Christmas trees are weaklings, anyhow, and a lumberman says that their intelligent cutting permits sturdier trees to attain greater growth.

Just About It
By James J. Montague

THE ISLE OF BY-AND-BY

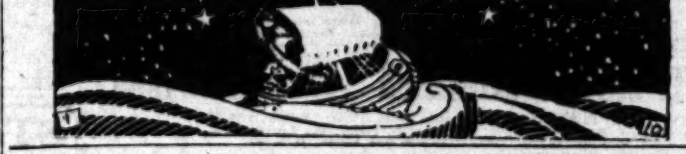

Underneath a placid sky,
Lies the world around,
And thither we are bound,
Cloudless days and starry nights,
By a sparkling sea,
Offer all the rare delights
Of what is-to-be.

Every little boy and girl
Hopes some day to sail
Through the waves that dance and swirl
In the summer gale,
Speaks of true delight
While the seagulls cry to race
Through the filmy spray,
Far from all the commonplace
Of this dull today.

Wonder who that round the tale,
Sails are dotted white,
And that many a happy smile
Speaks of true delight
Wonder who that at the fall
Of the fearful dark,
Little children, one and all,
Are eager to embark?

May each dark and gathering storm
Fade beneath the sun,
May the winds blow soft and warm
Till the voyage is done,
Untroubled flows the shining tide
Until the vessels lie,
All swaying in the bay beside
The Isle of By-and-By.

INSURING AGAINST MARRIAGE

Half a dozen of the show girls of a noted theatrical aggregation have been insured against marriage by their astute—and publicity-courting—manager. If any one of the girls marries their boss will be indemnified to the extent of $200,000.

It's a wonder nobody thought of that before. The advertising value, now that the stunt is fresh, is immense, and the cost ought not to be serious. Indeed, the wealthy fathers of a lot of stage-dore Johnnies ought to be willing to pay expenses.

Falling in that, the wise fathers of sap-headed sons will might take the tip from the theatrical concern and insure their boys against marriage with chorus girls. Then, if the young fools still persisted and succeeded in being eloped with by beautiful, uninsured dolls, the insurance companies instead of the fathers would be called on to provide for the newweds.

Between the managers and the fathers, stage-door romances thus would be cut to the minimum. On the moral side of such an arrangement, however, there is much to be said. Marriage to the right kind of chorus girl, and there are many of them, might be the making of some of our glided youths.

LOS ANGELES IN 1875

Compiled From the Los Angeles Newspapers of 1875

BY E. A. BRINTON

Bear Valley, in San Bernardino county, was given its name by Benito Wilson. On mounting the hill from which he looked down the valley he saw it absolutely reeking with bears. They were right, left and all about him. Since then Bruin has become a name and only puts in an occasional appearance there.

The railroad between Los Angeles and Santa Monica will probably be in operation by September 1, 1875.

Flaher has received a large assortment of Chicago beer. Those who relish a good thing would do well to drop into his place, 131 Main street, and quaff some of this inspiring beer. Its beautiful amber color and cooling properties ought to bring it decidedly into vogue, such weather as this. With an occasional sandwich it is not hard to take.

The latest news is that they have struck oil in the San Fernando tunnel. We recommend that the fissure be widened and the oil barrelled and rolled out.

It is a great relic of barbarism, this sloshing around with knives and pistols. The last Apache has been relegated to a distance of five or six hundred miles from Los Angeles, and there is no earthly hope of themselves here, unless they wish to encourage the game of murder. The discharge of firearms within the city limits of Los Angeles should be stopped by the police.

The vote of Los Angeles county this fall will reach 5500 and perhaps 6000, against 8700 two years ago.

To be sold at $2000—that magnificent property on Figueroa street, close to the corner of Pico, adjoining the home of Maj. Horace Bell. It consists of eight acres of superior land, also an elegantly finished house of ten rooms, with a balcony surrounding the house.

Two thousand dollars will buy a comfortable cottage on Hill street, between Third and Fourth streets.

Three thousand dollars is wanted for that handsomely improved lot, enclosed by a picket fence, with orange and lemon trees, on Fort street (Broadway) near the grounds of Gov. Downey, facing the intersection of Main and Spring streets.

According to the report of the census marshals, completed in June (1875), there are now 7167 school-children in Los Angeles county. Dr. W. T. Luckey is principal of the high school, with Miss E. M. Hawks assistant. There are ten schools in this city besides the high school.

At the Council meeting last night a motion was carried instructing the clerk to furnish a water cooler, ice and chairs every Thursday night for the use of the Council.

Charlie Miles, chief engineer of the city, has been voted a salary of $50 per month. In addition, it will be his duty to take charge of the fire hydrants and keep them in proper repair.

On the basis of the Great Register, the city of Los Angeles now (August, 1875) contains between 15,000 and 16,000 inhabitants. It also states that the population is increasing at the rate of four or five thousand a year.

Seven new buildings were commenced at Santa Monica last week.

Capt. Borrower yesterday completed the grading of Third street from Fort (Broadway) to Spring. We are pleased to see that the fine row of pepper trees on each side of the street will be left untroubled. We learn from Mr. Tiffany, who planted all the trees on the west side of Third street fronting his property, that they are only nine years old. These trees are now about three feet high and will be a thing of beauty for long years to come.

As there is a city ordinance requiring horses to be hitched while standing in the streets of Los Angeles, would it not be well for the city to supply a number of hitching posts?

VOICE CULTURE

By The Foothill Philosopher
As I listened, recently, to a teacher of drama coaching his pupils in the proper way to pronounce the words of a simple monologue in order best to convey the meaning intended, I was impressed with the thought of the possibilities of the human voice for spreading light and color throughout a drab world.

In view of the fact that the culture of the voice assists the student in the control of his emotions, the cultivation of the voice should be one of the aims of every young man and woman, regardless of whether they intend to commercialize their accomplishment or merely to employ it in every-day life as a means to personal happiness and the establishment of friendships.

A man may, rather easily, disguise his feelings by facial expressions and by words but, unless one is most careful, his eyes and the tones of his voice will betray him. The wonderful thing about learning to speak according to the dictates of the will, instead of according to the dictates of the emotions, is that tones have in them a power greater than the mere pronouncement of words and that the speaker who compels himself to employ tones that express the beautiful and the true, regardless of feeling, will be blessed by his own speech, regardless of its effect on the hearer. "A soft answer" not only "turneth away wrath" from the enemy, but it brings peace to the one who utters it.

There are 25,000 men or less in the country and she has its share of them.

American voters are not to be deceived by the fact that they can't see the man who made you feel superior.

And just a few years ago things were so bad that the woman's "inferior" position was the object of a hunt for office.

The investigation was reported to Judge Corbett, who had been questioned at the District Attorney's office.

CAMPBELL'S STORY
Tuesday Mr. Fricke, according to the grand jury, whom he had been called upon to investigate, reported to the grand jury that his remarks were "truthful."

We refuse to be affected by movie barons' claims that makes her nose red.

A Kentucky girl of 18, using tobacco for snuff, it will get you some of the best of the world.

The expensive thing about it is the price the police paid for a shiny new one every year.

The question to be asked is whether it is better to have a pair of good shoes or a pair of bad shoes.

A normal man is one who is finding an old man's life and observing how much he is a boy.

Hard knocks on the head, tells us the judge, are the best way to get a man's year fall upon the head.

BOND TOLD OF IN TRUST CASE TRIAL

Grocers Forced to Keep Up Prices by $1000 Pledge, Witness Asserts
 Members in the Southern California Wholesale Grocers' Association have been required to deposit $1000 each with the organization as a guarantee that they would abide by rules and regulations, Adrien Loeb, of the Adrien Loeb Company, wholesale grocer, testified yesterday before Federal Judge James.

Loeb was a witness for the government in the case against the grocers' association and others on a charge of conspiracy to violate the Sherman antitrust law. He said that J. R. Coffman, secretary of the association, told him if he cut prices on his commodities or if he violated any rule of the association, the $1000 deposited by him as a member would be forfeited.

Loeb testified he withdrew from membership in the organization in August, 1922, because he was not permitted to sell his goods to retail grocers at reduced prices as he previously had done. He said that while a member of the association he assisted in the work of a "credit chapter," which consisted of keeping up a "yellow list" containing the names of grocers who were required to pay cash for all their purchases. That list, containing 134 names, was introduced by the government as evidence in support of its allegation that the wholesale grocers conspired to maintain excessive prices on their commodities.

Certain commodities could be purchased during the last two years in distant cities and shipped to Los Angeles at prices below those charged by the local wholesale grocers, according to Adrien M. Kaler, another government witness.

Loeb testified he talked over the case to a man at the Campbell Hotel, who said he was the owner of the hotel. At that time he had no knowledge of the case, but he was told by the man that the case was a matter of honor.

Investigation was begun some weeks ago when the case was brought to Judge Crail and he had been appointed at that time Campbell Hotel at the District Attorney's office.

NEW FOREST CHIEF WILL ARRIVE SOON

Supervisor Charlton to be Succeeded by Cecil Within Few Days
 After twenty years of fire fighting in Southern California, Supervisor R. H. Charlton of the Angeles National Forest will be succeeded within a few days by George H. Cecil, another veteran of the forestry service, according to an announcement issued at the San Francisco district headquarters yesterday.

The proposed change in heads of the local forest fire forces was exclusively announced in The Times some time ago. It is being made at the request of Supervisor Cecil, who, after directing the forestry work in Oregon and Washington since 1912, has become possessed with a desire to reside in Southern California.

Supervisor Charlton, who has been in charge of the forestry supervision in Southern California since February, 1905, will be transferred to another assignment in the Forest Service. Since he has been in charge of the local area he has become one of the best-known Forest Service men in the State.

Supreme Court Stays Warrant of Judge Crail

Dist. Atty. Koyne yesterday received a telegram from Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, Mr. William Howard Taft, stating that the State Supreme Court has issued a writ of prohibition staying a bench warrant issued Thursday by Superior Judge Crail ordering Bay City authorities to produce Gaspara Bernardo in Los Angeles within twenty-four hours. Judge Crail issued the order when Bernardo's attorney, William T. Kendrick, Jr., asserted that his client was kidnapped on the first inst. and taken to San Francisco by Detective Sergeant Cottle in defiance of a writ of habeas corpus previously issued by the State Supreme Court. Bernardo was given his freedom on the ground that he is not a resident of San Francisco, where the charge of failure to provide for his minor children was filed.

Hearing on the writ was set by the Supreme Court for the 16th inst., when that body will be sitting in Los Angeles.

Bernardo is in custody of San Francisco police, according to affidavits from the Bay City. A copy of the writ of prohibition has been mailed from San Francisco and will be served on Judge Crail today.
